

CREW OF DIVER H-3 IS RESCUED

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
EUREKA, Cal., Dec. 15.—Stranded on a shoal near the entrance of Eureka bay in a dense fog, the United States submarine H-3 was abandoned by her officers and crew late yesterday, when rescuers working from the shore rigged a breeches buoy after 12 hours of work in a rough sea.

Lieut. Harry Bogusch, commander of the wrecked submarine, was the last to leave the ship as it lay crushed in the surf, a total loss.

Most of the 22 officers and men aboard the diver were severely bruised and battered when the H-3 crashed on to the shoal early yesterday morning. One man lost three fingers of his right hand, and practically every man aboard suffered more or less serious injuries.

Water eventually entered the batteries of the submarine and released chlorine gas, adding to the danger to those aboard.

The work of rescue, after the breeches buoy had been finally rigged, was witnessed by crowds that had gathered along the shore at the first news of the wreck. Cheers greeted every man as he was safely landed on the beach after the long ride through the mist and the angry surf from the crushed shell of the H-3.

The United States coast guard cutter McCulloch steamed from San Francisco last night for this port to begin the work of salvaging what is left of the equipment of the wave-battered submarine.

IN WAR ARENA

SLAVS DETERMINED ON FIGHT TO FINISH

PETROGRAD, Russia, Dec. 15.—The peace proposal of the governments of the Teutonic allies, as made by German Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg in his address before the reichstag last Tuesday, is regarded by the Russian government as "an attempt to court public opinion and encourage the German people by putting the responsibility for the continuation of the war upon the Entente allies," according to an official statement issued here today by the Russian foreign office.

"The lack of sincerity and the object of the German proposals are evident," the statement says. "It is the firm determination of the members of the Entente to continue the war to final triumph, and that determination cannot be weakened by any illusory proposals of the enemy."

JAPAN DOUBTS SINCERITY OF PEACE PROPOSALS

TOKIO, Japan, Dec. 15.—The foreign office issued a statement today saying that Japan does not take seriously Germany's proposal for peace, regarding it merely as a political move on the part of the Teutonic allies, and not made in good faith or with any expectation that it would be accepted by any member of the Entente.

The foreign office added the statement that, in its opinion, the Entente allies would have to go on fighting to the end and until ultimate victory is achieved. Peace at the present juncture is regarded as impossible.

DYNAMITER SMITH STANDS FAT UNDER HOT CROSS FIRE

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 15.—Louis J. Smith, star witness for the government in the trial of Franz Bopp, German consul-general here, and consular attaches, remained unshaken today in the face of a grilling cross-examination.

Two attempts to discredit Smith as a witness failed. He held to every detail of his story of how he had been employed by C. C. Crowley, detective for the consulate, to dynamite British ships carrying munitions.

Efforts to introduce reports to prove that Smith was a deserter from the Maryland volunteers were unsuccessful.

Smith vigorously denied charges that he had been offered $20,000 by British consular agents for his testimony.

AUSTRALIA PAPER SAYS 'MUDDLING' MUST BE ENDED

(From the Australian Seamen's Journal.)

The general war situation cannot by any means be regarded as satisfactory. It would appear, from the usual morning hash-up of war cables, that Germany is beaten, and it is a matter of time. Just a matter of time, we know that. How long that will be God knows.

Germany is no more beaten today than she was when the war broke out. There is not the slightest doubt that all the belligerents are suffering proportionately; but we are on the bigger side. The colossal debt that Britain is acquiring—four millions a day—will require a lot of labor to reduce, and the workers will have to pay it through the nose.

Since the death of Kitchener, Britain has been unable to find a man with the proper grasp of affairs, either on the field of battle or directing the home and foreign policies. What a pitiful spectacle confronts us of the smashing up of Rumania—a nation that was enticed into the field by a group of incompetent muddlers—both British and foreign. So with our military chiefs.

What a frightful mess was made at the Dardanelles—how the unparalleled courage of Australians was thrown to the wind through the gross muddling of those who engineered this colossal blunder—the perpetrators of which ought to be hanged. The same in Mesopotamia. It is significant that the inquiry now being held as to who was responsible for these mistakes hopes to fix the blame. It is more significant that those who directed operations are all alive to tell the tale. This speaks for itself. They dare not trust their own carcasses where they reckoned on certain death. The unfortunate plight of Rumania is another example. The courage and valor of millions of men is wasted when improperly applied.

We are not winning the war—not by a long way. Germany has her tongue in her cheek, and all the faked news we hear is so much stuff and nonsense. When Australia provides men of unconquerable spirit, and the leaders of equal judgment, and the sooner the automations that pull the strings of war are seized with this fact, the sooner will the aspect change. We cannot keep up our reinforcements as we are doing for very much longer, and God help us if Britain cannot provide the necessary brains to successfully direct affairs.

REFER AUTO DAMAGES TO ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Can a territorial commission be held to pay the damages to an automobile rented from an outside party but smashed in a turn-over while being driven by one of the commission's inspectors?

This is the question which is just now bothering the board of harbor commissioners, and which has been sent up to the attorney general for an answer. The attorney says it all depends upon what contract was made when the machine was taken and upon that point he is trying to get information.

The bill of $371 has been presented to the board by a Kaula garage man for damages to his machine several weeks ago when R. H. Lowrie, Kaula inspector, took a spill on the road from Waima to Nawiliwili while lodging off the road from another automobile which he met at a sharp turn and which was said to be on the wrong side of the road. Lowrie saved spilling both machines by taking the ditch. The attorney will probably report to the board at its meeting next Wednesday.

HAWAIIAN LEI LIES WITH ASHES OF JACK LONDON

A little dried ilima lei, reminder of the isles the noted author loved so well, was among the flowers entwined about the urn containing the ashes of the late Jack London. In Thursday's mail several Honoluluans received notes from Mrs. Charmian London acknowledging receipt of cablegrams of condolence sent to her when the news of her husband's death became known here. In a note to Miss Mary Lowe, Mrs. London says:

"My own heart goes out to you in your grief over our awful loss. The cables were a true comfort to me. Give my love to all our Hawaiian friends. When I wrapped the garden primroses around the pitiful urn that held his ashes, I wound among them a little dried ilima lei—because of his love for his Hawaiian love-family."

CANADIAN DESTROYER GRILSE REACHES PORT

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, Dec. 15.—The Canadian destroyer Grilse, which had been given up for lost, yesterday evening limped into the port of Shelburne, Nova Scotia, badly battered by the gale into which it had run while on the way to the Bermudas.

EAST THINKS WEST DEFEATED HUGHES

John Lyons, who was private secretary to Chairman Wilcox of the Republican national committee during the recent campaign, arrived in Honolulu in the Lurline for a brief stay in the islands. Speaking with regard to things political, he refers to Governor Hiram Johnson of California, senator-elect, as the man responsible for the defeat of Charles E. Hughes, candidate for the presidency. Lyons refers to Johnson as the "Benedict Arnold of his party."

"Back East, in the highest circles of the Republican party, we feel that there was something rotten in the California election—in short, that Hughes was double-crossed there," says Lyons. "I do not mean by that necessarily that Johnson deliberately went to work to knife the candidate of the party, but that he saw a chance to help himself and make himself the biggest man in the West, and did so without any thought of what the result would be."

"He probably accomplished his object so far as California and the other Western states are concerned, but as a national figure I believe that he is dead. I am confident that he is regarded throughout the East as the Benedict Arnold of the Republican party in the last campaign; that he undoubtedly killed the chances that Hughes had for election, at least in California."

MODELS HIS PART AFTER PRISONER

Before William H. West attempted to portray a leading role as a high-syma, a champion of honor and a self-appointed officer of the law, he spent some time in making a close study of one of the most noted of Australian bandits, then behind the bars at a Melbourne prison. The prisoner is said to have been highly flattered by the visits of the screen actor. Practically all the tricks of the trade were enacted for the benefit of West, who each week figures with prominence in the entertaining and sensational serial feature, "The Stingaree."

Today West, Paul Hurst and a well-balanced company appear at the Empire theater in the fourth episode, "The Villain Worshiper." It is considered one of the best of the two reel subjects. James Horne, producer, has spared no expense in gaining a proper atmosphere for the play. He took his company to Australia, where they remained for weeks before the scenes were procured.

A series of exciting flights over the several European war fronts, completed by daring birdmen, are featured in the illustrated world's news to be shown today. A big athletic event at New York is an added attraction. Two fine comedies are included in the program.

DENBY

TRUCKS

For Trail or Pavement

THIS 1-ton Denby is not merely a "good roads truck." Some of its best work is being done over mountain trails, or in suburban localities where the roads are very poor.

There is plentiful power to take the truck and its load anywhere. But Denby design has taken care of the two factors of fuel consumption and tire mileage in a way that results in astonishingly low maintenance expense.

We believe that no other truck will equal Denby performance in these respects.
